1. Nature of Operations

The Company's core business is the provision of services and technology for offender monitoring in Canadian federal and provincial correctional departments.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

a) General

These financial statements have been prepared in Canadian dollars and in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

b) Use of estimates

The preparation of these financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles in Canada requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the revenues and expenses during the reporting periods, in addition to the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

c) Currency and foreign exchange

The functional currency of the Company is the Canadian dollar. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in another currency are translated at exchange rates in effect at the balance sheet dates. Other non-monetary balance sheet items denominated in another currency are translated at the rates of exchange in effect at the time the items arose. Revenue and expenses are translated at the exchange rates in effect at the time of the transaction. Gains and losses arising from fluctuations in exchange rates are included in operations for the periods in which they occur.

Cash and cash equivalents are defined as cash on hand and short term, highly liquid money market instruments with original maturities of three months or less.

e) Property and equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated amortization. Amortization is charged to earnings over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets at the following rates:

Furniture & fixtures	20% declining balance
Monitoring equipment	straight-line over 5 years or contract period

Expenditures for maintenance and repairs that do not improve or extend the life of the assets are expensed as operations, while major repairs are capitalized.

f) Asset impairment

On an annual basis, or when impairment arises, the Company evaluates the future recoverability of its property and equipment. Impairment losses or write-downs are recorded in the event the net book value of such assets exceeds the estimated future cash flows attributable to such assets.

g) Revenue recognition

Rental and monitoring income is recognized pursuant to various lease agreements which specify the terms and conditions of rental and the services to be performed for electronic surveillance. Rental income is recognized on a straight-line basis over the terms of the leases. Revenue from the sale of parts which are required to repair and maintain the monitoring equipment is recognized upon delivery to the lessee. Maintenance and monitoring service income is recognized when the services are performed.

The Company recognizes sales and leasing revenue over the term of the applicable operating services agreements. The term of existing service agreements is between three and five years. Generally, the lessees have the option to renew or cancel the lease and service agreements upon the expiration of each lease term or, in certain circumstances, the agreements may be cancelled upon specific notice provided to the Company. In situations where leases are terminated, the leased monitoring equipment would be returned to the Company or the Company's lessors with no further obligation on behalf of the lessee.

h) Stock-based compensation

The Company follows the recommendations of CICA Handbook Section 3870 "Stock-based Compensation and Other Stock-based Payments" which establishes standards for the recognition, measurement and disclosure of stock-based compensation and other stock-based payments made in exchange for goods and services. These recommendation require that compensation for all awards made, including stock appreciation rights, direct awards of stock and awards that call for settlement in cash or other assets, be measured and recorded in the financial statements at fair value. For the purpose of this Section, employees include directors who receive stock compensation for services provided as director. This Section also sets out fair value based methods of accounting for stock options issued to employees.

The Company uses the fair value based method of accounting for stock based compensation for all grants of options to employees, non-employees and directors. All option grants are accounted for by using the fair value based method, and stock based compensation expense is computed using the Black-Scholes option pricing model. Accordingly, the fair value of the stock options at the date of grant is charged to operations on a straight-line basis over the vesting period. Any consideration paid on exercise of stock options together with the related portion previously recognized as stock based compensation is credited to share capital.

i) Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing earnings (loss) for the period by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per share has been calculated using the treasury stock method. This method assumes that common shares are issued for the exercise of warrants and options and that the assumed proceeds from the exercise of warrants and options are used to purchase common shares at the average market price during the period. The difference between the number of shares assumed issued and the number of shares assumed purchased is then added to the basic weighted average number of shares outstanding to determine the fully diluted number of common shares outstanding. No exercise or conversion is assumed during periods in which a net loss is incurred as the effect is anti-dilutive.

j) Income taxes

The Company uses the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes whereby future income tax assets are recognized for deductible temporary differences and operating loss carry-forwards, and future income tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences. Temporary differences are the differences between the amounts of assets and liabilities recorded for income tax and financial reporting purposes. Future income tax assets are recognized only to the extent that management determines that it is more likely than not that the future income tax assets will be realized. Future income tax assets and liabilities are adjusted for the effects of changes in tax laws and rates on the date of enactment or substantive enactment. The income tax expense or benefit is the income tax payable or refundable for the period plus or minus the change in future income tax assets and liabilities during the period.

3. Financial Instruments

The Company's financial instruments recognized in the balance sheet consist of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities, income taxes payable, and capital lease obligations. The fair values of these instruments approximates their carrying value due to their short-term maturity or, in the case of the capital lease obligation, the rate implicit in the lease arrangements.

a) Credit risk

The Company's principal business activities are located in Canada. The Company performs certain credit evaluation procedures and does not require collateral for financial instruments subject to credit risk. The Company believes that credit risk is limited because the company routinely assesses the financial strength of its customers, and based upon factors surrounding the credit risk of its customers, establishes an allowance for uncollectible accounts and, as a consequence, believes that its account receivable credit risk beyond such allowances is limited.

The Company's principal business activities are located in Canada. The Company had net sales to two major customers during the three and six month periods ended January 31, 2007.

The Company maintains cash deposits with financial institutions, which from time to time may exceed federally insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses and believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk from cash. At January 31, 2007, the Company had cash balances on deposit that exceeded federally insured limits by $2,313,991. All of these funds are on deposit with a Schedule A bank in Canada.

b) Fair value

Unless otherwise noted, cash, accounts receivable, accounts payable, income tax payable and capital lease obligation are stated at amounts that approximate fair value.

c) Foreign exchange risk

The Company is subject to currency risk due to the fluctuations of exchange rates between the Canadian and U.S. dollars. The Company pays for replacement parts and rental and monitoring services from suppliers in U.S. dollars. All of the Company's sales are received in Canada dollars.

d) Liquidity risk

The Company is exposed to liquidity risk as its continued operations are dependent upon the Company realizing its account receivable to satisfy its liabilities as they become due.

The Company amortizes its monitoring equipment over its estimated useful life as described in note 2. Such estimates are based on management's experience and expectations of the continued renewal of the contracts for which equipment is acquired or the use of existing equipment in new contracts. Advances in technology and other considerations could result in significant changes to the estimated lives of these assets or otherwise impact the ability of the Company to realize on existing monitoring equipment. In these circumstances, additional provisions could be required.

5. Capital Lease Obligation

		Principal	Imputed Interest	Total

The maximum number of shares issuable under the plan, which follows the policies of the TSX Venture Exchange ("TSXV") regarding stock option awards, was 414,332. In January 2006, the Company amended its stock option plan to increase the number of shares reserved for issuance under the plan to 471,188. Options granted under the plan vest in 6 equal installments over a period of 18 months, with the first installment vesting immediately, and the remaining options vesting upon 6, 9, 12, 15 and 18 months after the date of grant. The option exercise price is generally set as the market price at the time of grant; however, a discount from the market price is permitted under the plan, subject to the policies of the TSX Venture Exchange.

The table below summarizes the options that have been granted under the Company's stock option plan.

The Company presently derives substantially all of its revenue from two customers of which one customer contributed approximately 86% of revenue in the six month period ended January 31, 2007 (2006 - 92%). These contracts are reviewed periodically and have cancellation provisions. The non-renewal or cancellation of one or more of these contracts would have a material adverse impact on the Company.

The Company is a Canadian distributor of Pro-Tech Monitoring, Inc.'s ("Pro-Tech") and the exclusive Canadian distributor of BI Inc.'s (both U.S. companies) offender monitoring and tracking devices; the sales and leasing of which account for substantially all of the Company's revenues, capital asset additions and replacement parts purchased.
